TORONTO TIDINGS

Mrs. Clarence Pinder left on January 15th, for a visit to friends in Buffalo, Cleveland, Akron and other places over the boundary line.

In answer to an outside query we, may say that our hockey team, known as the "Path Finders," did not enter the Toronto Hockey League this season, owing to a good number of its players scattering for other points.

A special meeting of the Sessional Board of our church was held on January 17th, to transact some important business. Mr. John T. Shilton, B.A., found that the many duties he had to perform in church matters were beginning to tell on him, so urgently asked to be relieved of some, so that he could devote more time to his own business. The board sympathetically concurred, and Mr. Frank Moore was suggested to take over the duties that Mr. Shilton now relinquishes and we are urging Mr. Moore to accept the tasks. Mr. Shilton has worked hard and long in this connection and was most heartily thanked for his labors, which he had given not only voluntarily but cheerfully as well.

Messrs. Edward and Frank Hayes, of Hamilton, were looking up old friends here over the week-end of January 15th. Though their last names are alike, they are not related to each other. They are Buffalo School graduates.

Mr. J. R. Byrne again spoke at our Epworth League meeting, on January 19th, before a good crowd.

In your last issue, it was stated that Mr. Norman Yager, of Windsor, had gone to Niagara Falls to try out a situation. Well, he was here over the week-end of January 15th, and said he will likely settle at the Falls. He had just returned from a flying trip to his wife and kiddies at the Windsor border.

Glad to see Mr. Samuel Averall, of Cookstown, in our midst over the week-end of January 15th, having come in to see his aged mother, who is not quite well and who is nearing the century mark.

Mr. John T. Shilton, B.A., gave a very fine sermon on January 16th.

Mr. Walter Bell, who is now working in Oshawa for a while, was up to see his family over Sunday, January 16th. He says his new job suits him fine.

Mr. John Gotthelf, of Flint, Mich., was a welcome visitor here for week of January 9th-17th, and made many new friends while here. Come again, young friend.

In your last issue, it was stated that Miss Edith Clarke was on the brink of eternity, awaiting the Boatman's call. Now she has crossed the "Invincible Chasm" to His outstretched arms. After years of intense suffering, borne with the utmost fortitude, the Great Physician finally send down his messengers to bring her to His bosom on January 14th. She was a great friend of the deaf, and a sister of Mrs. J. D. Nasmith. The latter was shocked when the news of her sister's demise was flashed over the wires to her in far away Florida, but Mrs. Nasmith was unable to come to the funeral.

OTTAWA OPINIONS

We are pleased to see our old friend, Mr. David Bayne, in our midst again after being confined to his home for quite a while, suffering from heart trouble. He is one of the oldest and most popular of our deaf friends at the Capital.

Mr. Harold Hall, of Perth, spent the Yuletide holidays with his sister and other relatives here.

The annual meeting of the Ottawa Association of the Deaf was held recently, for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year, and a good crowd turned out. This was the first regular meeting in two years. All the old officers were re-elected, with Mr. Peter McDougall, of South Indian, added to the list as follows:—

Mr. David Bayne, Chairman; Mr. N. McD. Wilson, Secretary-Treasurer; and Messrs. Alfred Gray, Gerald Hubbard and Peter McDougall, Committee of Management. With the exception of Mr. Wilson, all the above named officers will alternate in conducting the Sabbath Services at our room in the Y. M. C. A. Mr. and

Mrs. Gerald Hubbard and Miss Rosie Brigham were named as the Social Committee. It was unanimously decided to donate fifteen dollars to the Y. M. C. A. for the use of the room that has been placed at our disposal, year in and year out for the past 35 years. We trust the association will brush ahead with greater success than ever.

The visit of Mr. Colin McLean, of Toronto, to our midst lately was a source of great pleasure to his many friends here.

AURORA ANECDOTES

Mrs. F. A. West was shocked when she received a telegram, on September 30th last, from her sister, Mrs. Mary Symes, of Hinton, Sask., bringing the sad tidings of the death of her brother, Mr. Clarence Webb, who passed from this life on September 30th, from gas poisoning inhaled in the great war nine years before. He died in Crandall, Man., but Mrs. West was not apprised of it till several weeks later.

Miss Alice McKenzie observed her twenty-second birthday on January 20th, with a little party at her home. She got many gifts and all had a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. Eli Corbieri spent the Christmas holidays with the former's nephews in St. Catharines, and had a delightful time.

Mrs. F. A. West's aged mother, of Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Foster and Miss Foster, of Queensville, called on the West family here a short time ago.

A large skating party, after indulging in this favorite winter pastime, made a bee line for the commodious and cosy home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert McKenzie, where they enjoyed a couple of extra hours in all kinds of fun and partaking of toothsome eats. They were members of the Baptist Church Choir.

All the deaf here openly declare that life would be half dead here were it not for the weekly arrival of the JOURNAL with its loads of cheery news. No other paper for the deaf can beat it.

Mr. Eli Corbieri was up to Holland Landing, on New Year's Day, to see his aged aunt, Mrs. H. West, who is patiently bearing the weight of 86 winters.

Mr. H. W. Roberts, of Toronto, came up on January 16th, and gave us two good sermons on the love of God towards all who follow Him. He was given close attention throughout.

Mrs. George Connor, sister of Mrs. F. A. West, invited the West family for Christmas and a good time was spent. Mr. West took many good snaps of the Christmas tree in all its beauty.

Messrs. Clifford Spence, of this town, and Clifford Widdup, of London, enjoyed the New Year's holidays at Herbert McKenzie's.

Mr. and Mrs. Eli Corbieri went up to New Market and spent the day very pleasantly with the former's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kirby.

Mr. Herbert McKenzie, Jr., had a good time in Toronto with friends, over the New Year's recess.

Mr. Frank A. West, who was one of the delegates from here to the Deaf Mission Conclave in Toronto last Thanksgiving, says the meeting was a good and useful one in many ways. He called to see his mother and sister in the meantime.

Miss Sara McKenzie seems to be Aurora's favorite "Bonnie Lassie," judging by the great avalanche of presents showered upon her at Christmas.

Mr. Silas Baskerville, of Toronto, came up here Sunday morning, January 16th, to see his father, and in the afternoon both went to the New-market Hospital to see Silas' mother, who is undergoing treatment at that institution. She is improving nicely.

PALGRAVE PARAGRAPHS

G. William Beaird, of Beeton, was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Jones on January 13th.

The deaf around here love to read the JOURNAL every week, as it gives news of us news of the welfare of our old schoolmates.

The Zimmerman and Jones families were in Toronto for Christmas and got home safely, despite the slippery condition of the roads.

Mr. and Mrs. David Lennox, of Phippston, were visitors here with the

Jones and Zimmerman families over New Year's Day, and while here Mr. and Mrs. Jones took them to Bolton to see Miss Madeline Elliott, whom they found growing into a perfect lady.

Mrs. Agnes Phillips, of Lisle, returned home on January 3d, after spending the New Year's recess with Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Jones here.

Mrs. Nettie Peacock, of Toronto, who has been living here with the Jones and Zimmerman families since she had her operation last Spring, has returned to the "Queens City."

PETROLEA PEDALS

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Welch and daughter, of Oil City, were in town lately, visiting relatives.

The deaf all around here greatly appreciate the weekly they consider to be the best medium for the deaf.

While Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Welch and daughter were here visiting Miss Edith Squires lately, the whole party were invited to a card party at the home of Mrs. McPhedran's, where they had a very lovely time. Mrs. McPhedran is an aunt of the late Mr. Frank Jennings, of Sarnia.

The deaf around here feel the closing of the mission meetings at Sarnia during these winter months, and are patiently waiting its re-opening in the Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Welch, of Oil City, were recently in Eddy's Mills visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Meckie and had a fine time.

BRANTFORD BRIEFS

The Brantford Mission to the Deaf sent a beautiful wreath to be laid on the coffins of the Late Percy Smith.

Mr. Roberts got slightly mixed up when writing over Brantford Briefs last time are the polling booths. It should have been at the home of Howard J. Lloyd and not his father. A sour "plum" turns sweeter when the correction is given.

Mr. John Braithwaite, of St. George, had a small farm on option last summer, and now he has decided to buy the place.

The banquet given by the Brantford Mission to the Deaf, on December 31st, was a grand success.

The death of the son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie E. Smith, of Burford, near here, came as a great shock to us all. We extend our sincere condolence to the bereaved relatives. Here is an account of the death, which took place on January 12th, at the Brantford General Hospital, of Percy E. Smith, aged 22, of the village of Burford. Mr. Smith had been for a number of years a valued employee of the local branch of the Bell Telephone Company. Death ensued as a result of an accident on Christmas Day, in which he received severe cuts to his hand. The injury, while serious, was not expected to have fatal results, until further complications resulted, and about a week ago the unfortunate man was found to be suffering from tetanus. He was conveyed to the hospital, where he passed away on the 12th. He is survived by his parents and three brothers, F. W. Smith and G. A. Smith, of Burford, and H. R. Smith, this city. The funeral was held on January 15th from the late residence at Burford to Mount Hope cemetery.

GENERAL GLEANINGS

No sooner had Miss Annie Dalglish, of Sault Ste Marie, Ont., seen a sample of the JOURNAL than she sent in her subscription for this most interesting paper. She thinks it is the best paper of the deaf she has yet come across.

While Mr. and Mrs. David Lennox, of Phippston, were away visiting in Lisle, Alliston and Palgrave over the recent holidays, Mr. Ernest A. Lawson looked after their home and farm stock.

Miss Madeline Elliott, of Bolton, was delighted with a visit from her brother, of Buffalo, during the Yuletide holidays.

Should you happen to pass 93 Norman Street in Stratford, don't forget to call in and congratulate our good friends, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Quinlan, upon the arrival of their first offspring—a daughter, weighing eight pounds when it first made its bow to this world, on January 14th. It smiles when you call out Pauline Clarida Quinlan, for such is her name. Her mother was formerly Clarida Legault. The nurse in attendance was no other than our old friend, Mrs. Thomas Aitchison, who, before her marriage a few years ago, was Miss Margaret B. Hoy, of Avonport.

The Misses Alice and Francis Ball, of Aylmer, were in Detroit for a fortnight.

Mr. John Taylor, of Singhampton, in sending in his renewal for the JOURNAL, says he can't see how the reporter manages to gather in so much news every week. Thank you, Jack, for your compliment.

In sending in their renewal, Mr. Peter McDougall and his deaf sister, Miss Ethel McDougall, state that since taking this paper they have learned much of their old friends, whom they had not heard of for ages.

We have just heard of the marriage of the two Whalen sisters, of Peterboro. Miss Loretta, the elder, was married, on December 24th, to Mr. Elwood McBrien, B.A., also a graduate of the Belleville School, and of Toronto University. They are living in Sarnia. Miss Mary, the other, made the plunge on December 28th, to a hearing young man, whose acquaintance she had made years ago. They are making their home in New Liskeard.

Miss Agnes Cowhey, of Cornwall, has returned home after a three weeks' delightful visit with relatives in Montreal.

Mr. Victor Reading, who is still working near Redickville, Ont., contemplates crossing the line this spring, to seek his fortune in Uncle Sam's field.

HERBERT W. ROBERTS

SEATTLE.

The January Gallaudet Guild Social was held January 15th, under the management of Hugo Holcombe and Oscar Sanders, Miss Edna Smith, who was expected to lead, being in Tacoma. Progressive Whist was the first order of the evening, following by a couple of word games. The first prizes in the whist game were won by Joe Kirschbaum and Mrs. John Brinkman, and the booby prizes by Mrs. Victoria Smith and Le Roy Bradbury.

A great contribution to the pleasure of the evening was the presence of Mr. John Ellis McDonald a university Sophomore and the son of the instructor of carpentry at the Vancouver School. Mr. McDonald is a well-set up young fellow of agreeable manners. He rowed last year on the frosh crew that defeated California, though he was not among those who went to Poughkeepsie. This year he is trying for a place on the Varsity Crew, and we all wish him success, for all the deafall a proprietary pride in an ambitious son or daughter of deaf parents. Mr. McDonald is a member of Lambda Chi fraternity, and he left our party early, because it was initiation night at his house.

The large Crescent Manufacturing Company recently moved to a new building of concrete construction, with 75,000 feet of floor space in its four stories and basement. The Seattle Star of January 19th had an illustrated write-up of the plant. In a picture of the Shipping room we recognized Joe Kirschbaum in the act of placing a box on a pile of others. Joe has been an employee of the Crescent Company for several years now, and greatly likes his job. Each Christmas he is handed a check and a turkey, and all through the year he receives fair and considerate treatment.

Not long ago we missed the Kirschbaums from our gatherings, and discovered on inquiry that Mrs. Kirschbaum was down with flu for three weeks. Joe refused to go to parties without his wife, so stayed home and helped to take care of her.

On Monday, January 17th, the annual dinner and parish meeting of St. Mark's was attended by Mr. L. O. Christenson and Dr. and Mrs. Hanson, who helped to elect members to fill vacant places on the vestry, and delegates to the annual diocesan Convention. Alice Hanson was at hand to interpret, so that proceedings were readily followed.

Mr. L. O. Christenson is doing very nicely recovering from his auto accident, having long ago discarded his cane. He now walks long distances, though he still has a slight limp, and does not yet go up and down stairs readily.

Mrs. Eunice Wallace, of Vancouver, Wash., a sister of Claire Reeves, visited for a couple of weeks following the Frat party at her brother's home. We met her at the bowling club one evening.

Quite a few of our men are now out of work, some of them laid off for a time and some indefinitely. Any outside deaf who contemplate coming here for work had better wait till times pick up. All who come should have funds enough to live on several months without work.

A letter from Alice Wilberg informs us that she is supervisor of the dining room at the state school, and not supervisor of small girls, as reported to us. She is pleasantly situated and has already found pals, Misses Newman and Cantey.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mastin, living near Everett, are rejoicing in the birth of a second son on January 13th. The little fellow weighed seven pounds at birth.

On Miss Doris Nation's return from Wenatchee, where she had spent Christmas with Miss Doris Thomson, she showed her friends an attractive snapshot of Doris Thomson's home, a bungalow in white stucco. It is said to be the prettiest bungalow in Wenatchee.

Doris Watson, is now on the choir of St. Mark's and does very good work. A year and a half ago she did not know a single sign, and could only spell on her fingers in the English way.

Robert C. Miller has been having a great time getting acquainted with the great northwest. Over New Year's he joined nearly a hundred mountaineers who went up to Paradise to enjoy the sports in the snow. From Longmire to Paradise is six miles, and the party liked the distance on the packed snow. Coming back they used snow-shoes, and it was Mr. Miller's first experience on them, as well as on skis. The snow on their arrival at Paradise was seven feet high, and on leaving two feet higher, as it snowed every day. After the Mt. Rainier trip, Mr. Miller went to Portland and attended the Frat meeting there. He also lectured on the N. A. D. to a large audience. He spent a day at the State school at Vancouver, and addressed the pupils in the chapel. He was impressed with the good work the school was doing, and the number of bright boys and girls in the upper classes. He then went to Tacoma, where he attended a mountaineers banquet last Saturday evening at Hotel Tacoma. The following evening he lectured to about fifty deaf people at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lowell. He expects to be in Seattle for some time in the future.

A letter from William West at Wernecke, Yukon Territory, Alaska, to Mr. Christenson encloses three dollars for the E. M. Gallaudet Fund, on behalf of himself and each of his parents. He says that they are having a wonderful winter with snow only ankle-deep. On Christmas day, they had a dance at the new Elk Club house. On Christmas day, they also had a moving picture show, and one reel portrayed pictures of the Pioneer Day celebration in Dawson two years ago. Two pictures of Jesse West, Will's father, were shown. Will enclosed in his letter a picture of over a dozen big and husky looking men, and he himself was one of the biggest and huskiest of all.

THE HANSONS.

DIED

At Rosetown, Sask., Canada, on Tuesday, January 18th, after a few hours' illness, Mary Elizabeth Franklin (Bessie), at the age of 37 years. The funeral was held from the family residence, Rosetown, on Friday afternoon, January 21st, at 2 o'clock. Interment made in Rosetown Cemetery. Deceased leaves a mother, Mrs. H. J. Moffatt, and brother, S. E. Franklin, all of Rosetown.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT.

THE SOUTH will have a new association of the DEAF, to be named THE SOUTHERN ASSOCIATION OF THE DEAF. Plans have been completed. The place to start the new association of the deaf is Winston-Salem, N. C., at the time the North Carolina Association of the Deaf holds its convention, August, 1927.

The present National Association of the Deaf was started by a handful of delegates attending a convention in Cincinnati forty years ago.

The great National Fraternal Association of the Deaf was started by five men, just youngsters out of school.

The new Southern Association of the Deaf will be started in the same way.

A group of SOUTHERN men, who call themselves promoters, will launch their association, objection or no objection.

All they need is a set of by-laws and constitution. No funds will be used. They will vote, naming a president, a vice-president, a secretary and a treasurer. Look how simple it is.

No charter will be asked for until the organization is large enough to need one. If the law steps in, and tells us to get a charter in order to have a convention, we will gracefully disband. Then start anew, and obtain a charter, hold a convention.

The Southern promoters will expect a few howls from the officials of the great NAD. Anyway, the new association will grow up and rival the now famous NAD.

There is no law to prevent the Southern promoters from organizing their proposed Association for the entire SOUTH. If there is a law, show us.

The Southern Association of the Deaf will be made up from deaf persons living in thirteen states of the South. They will meet at a time when the National Association of the Deaf and the great National Fraternal Society of the Deaf don't meet.

There are Southerners who have never attended a convention of the famous National Association of the Deaf or the great National Fraternal Society of the Deaf. Both bodies have met in the South in years gone by, being attended barely by a few Southerners.

The majority of the Southerners want a convention that would stay in the South all the time and meet often. The other two bodies will not meet in the South for many years.

It has been said that the South has almost no voice, no representation in the other two bodies, known as the National Association of the Deaf and the National Fraternal Society of the Deaf.

The voting strength of the two bodies will never give a Southerner the office of president.

The South has been poorly represented at the two bodies. They have been ignored. They have been refused their rights to be heard on the stage. They have been outvoted in their choice of a candidate from the South for president. They have always had small voting strength.

The South is dissatisfied with programs, speeches and papers long given by Northerners and Westerners. What the South wants is a speech on agriculture or cotton. Most southern delegates are farmers. Quite a few are factory hands, carpenters, tradesmen, and printers. They have problems to discuss—problems so foreign to Northerners and Westerners.

The Southern Association of the Deaf will be launched, objection or no objection. It will work with the other two bodies. It will grow great as the NAD now is.

THREE CHEERS FOR THE SOUTH! Hope her association benefits her so.

NEXT Saturday, February 5th, is the birthday anniversary of Edward Miner Gallaudet.

He founded Gallaudet College, Washington, D. C. His father, Thomas Hopkins Gallaudet, was the founder of the first school for the education of deaf-mutes in America, and lifted the hitherto neglected deaf from the darkness of ignorance to the light of knowledge and of truth.

As time went by schools for the deaf multiplied, and the term of instruction increased; but at best only elementary education was offered.

With clear vision, Edward Miner Gallaudet saw that the capable deaf would have their ambitious blanketed unless the way to obtain a higher education were open to them, where they could get the invaluable training of mind and character which a collegiate course would confer. Skeptics railed at him as a visionary and his efforts were beset by many obstructions; but he did not give up.

His indomitable perseverance was rewarded with success, and on the 28th day of June, 1864, the National Deaf-Mute College (now Gallaudet College) was publicly inaugurated. "The Congress of the United States had granted the privilege of conferring such degrees in the liberal arts and sciences as are conferred and granted in colleges for the hearing." The Charter was signed by Abraham Lincoln.

Edward Miner Gallaudet was the first president of the college which he founded, and he served in that office forty-six years. Long before his death, which occurred in 1917, he had the satisfaction of seeing the college on a firm basis.

The schools for the deaf in every State in the Union profited by his work. Their educational standards were raised to meet the entrance requirements of the college, and thus formed an incentive to effort that resulted in a general uplift of the whole school. Edward Miner Gallaudet was a friend and benefactor of all the deaf—not college students alone.

It is planned to add a Memorial Hall to the group that constitutes Gallaudet College. But we refrain from going into details at the present time.

Those who have been directly benefitted by the college—the alumni and alumnae—have thus far raised over $20,000. The amount required for the successful culmination of the project is $50,000.

The quota of each State has been figured on a pro rata of the general population. The amounts received from each State is subjoined. It will be noted that the first three States on the list and the District of Columbia have already exceeded the quota.

It is proposed to have a popular subscription of One Dollar from each deaf person the United States, to honor this real friend and benefactor. No deaf individual should let the privilege escape them, for it is indeed a privilege to commemorate the great service to the deaf of Edward Miner Gallaudet.

Let all the deaf unite in doing honor Edward Miner Gallaudet. His polished personality, courteous manners, dignified bearing, scholarly mind, unconquerable force of character, gave a great impetus to the general education of deaf everywhere, and the deaf everywhere in these United States should join the popular subscription send and in ONE DOLLAR. The JOURNAL will carry a list of acknowledgments. Send your donations to the treasurer, Harley D. Drake, Gallaudet College, Washington D. C.

The Capital City.

Washington, the Capital of the United States, the mecca of almost all conventions, is drawing the eyes of the deaf at large to see what is being done in the way of her, Washington raising her quota of the Edward Miner Gallaudet Fund.

To tell the truth, the Capitalites have done very little in this line and for a very good reason—they were flat broke and they are not ashamed to say so, for who would not be proud of the fact that he was broke at the expense of this past Convention of the National Association of the Deaf?

But all that is now a thing of the past. They are now getting down to business in a business-like way—starting their ball rolling in the way of a Lecture and Play, to be given by the Capitalites in Chapel Hall at Gallaudet College, Saturday evening, February 19th, at eight o'clock. The program has been worked out to a nicety by the Chairman Jennie E. Jones. An idea of the pleasure in store is, the program starts with "The Halls of Gallaudet" by Miss Emma Cooke. Lecture by a big man, his name withheld until further notice—that is our surprise. Then a few words by President Hall. Then comes a play, which will be worth the price of admission alone—that being only fifty cents—a half dollar. They expect every one of the Washington deaf to attend and bring their friends along too, for they made arrangements for an interpreter for the hearing people's benefit. Come one, come all, and don't forget to remember the date, February 19th, Saturday,—8 p. m.

A very pleasant tea party was given by the charming Misses Jones at the cosy apartment of their mother, Sunday, January 2d, at 4 p. m.

After pleasant conversations, a cup of tea and cake were served. The invited guests were Rev. Mr. A. D. Bryant and Mrs. Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. Stephens Cranston, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Edington, Mrs. P. R. Vernier, Mr. Harry Hall, of Foreign Service—Vice Consul at Warsaw, near Baltic Sea, a friend of the Joneses, Mrs. Colby and Mr. Robert Werdig. At 7 o'clock the guests were conveyed in the elegant car of Mr. Werdig to the Baptist Church, where services were held. It was a very large attendance, though the weather was unpleasant and cold.

Emmet Feehrer received his DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL for the first time in his life. He thinks it is neat and worthy and it would not suit his old home on 418 3d Street, N. W. So he had his family moved to a better house on 424, three doors away. He has placed a large mail box on the sides of the door for the JOURNAL. He has a pleasant looking wife and one child—a girl who can talk the deaf language very good.

There was a very large attendance at the Baptist Church, Sunday evening, January 16th, when three women were baptized. They were Mrs. Duncan Smoak, Mrs. Margaret Voegel and Mrs. Louise Starke.

E. E. Maczkowski spoke on "Christian use of the Bible," which was interesting and instructive. Rev. Mr. Bryant's sermon on "Christ the Chief Cornerstone," was touching, and his declamation on "The Sun of Righteousness," was remarkably striking. Before the close of the services the hearing pastor of the church spoke to the congregation on "Bounding," and Mrs. Bryant interpreted. Two young ladies recited in succession—Miss Nora Nanney the "Rock of Ages," and Miss Emma Cooke "Guide me, O Thou Great Jehovah."

There is a good woman in Detroit, who is known as "Nellie of Lambert Avenue." She is a first-class cook. Every Sunday and holiday, the year round during 1926, she entertained company to dinner or supper. The pies she baked were wonderful, her coffee always delicious. There must be, it seems, some miracle in her hands. The JOURNAL readers, no doubt will be glad to get acquainted with her. She is Nellie J., wife of Harry J. Brown. She received her education from the Michigan School for the Deaf.

Deaf of Washington extend to Prof. James M. Stewart, of Flint, their sincere sympathy upon the passing of his beloved wife, January 14th.

Miss Dorothy Havens, daughter of Mr. Elmer Havens, of Pittsburgh, who is a pupil of the Kendall School, has returned to her studies after a few weeks' confinement at home in Pittsburgh. She now looks hearty and hale.

St. Barnabas' Mission will hold its second business meeting at the Good Shepherd, Sixth and Eye, N. E., February 1st. Everyone is cordially invited to attend. Light refreshment will be served.

The writer received three apples sent by a friend in Montreal, Canada. The apples have neither core nor seeds and are propagated exactly like the seedless orange. They have the flavor of a snow apple.

Orlando Price, a young man who is employed at the Government Printing with Jim Davidson, underwent an operation at the State Hospital in Baltimore, Md. His friends are in the hope of his speedy recovery.

E. E. Maczkowski, Detroit's own, received congratulations from friends for his success in securing a lucrative position in the Government. He expects, if nothing prevents, to visit his old home in Detroit next summer. He was shocked when informed of the passing of Mrs. James Stewart, of Flint. She was one of his teachers at the Michigan School for the Deaf.

J. S. Edelen, who is employed in the Interior Department of the Government, was promoted to grade three, sub-professional service (printing and clerical) and got a raise in salary.

The Literary Society met at the Masonic Temple with Wallace Edington, President. Mr. Byrne gave a story of the life of Mark Twain. Rev. Mr. Bryant and Rev. Mr. Pulver then made some remarks on Mark Twain. The next meeting will be as follows: Mr. Bryant, "The Recollections of a Long Life." Mr. Ferguson, Current Topics; and Miss Cooke, declamation.

Miss Sophia Mullin, who has been visiting in the Capital City with friends before the holidays, has arrived in Seattle. She is now settled in a pleasant apartment in Seattle with her married sister.

The street address of the Detroit Association of the Deaf is found at last. It is at 320 West Fort St. The friends of this Association have been looking for the new address ever since the Association moved from the old headquarters at Michigan Avenue. They regret that they were too late to send their greetings. Nevertheless, a message is now on the way. Look for it, boys.

Will the Ashley Mickenhams, of Chicago, please send the writer their present home address? She, it will be remembered, was one of the earnest helpers of the Detroit Association of the Deaf.

L. P. Schulte has the moving fever again having found for himself a new roost at 1224 Quincy Street. His friends wonder why he has moved so far up town.

Mario Santin, a graduate of Gallaudet, Class 1924, has been in Washington for the past few weeks, having tired of New York. He has been subbing on the Evening Star, one of Washington's big dailies, as a linotype operator.

DETROIT.

Again Detroit received a shock on hearing the death of Mrs. James Stewart (Josephine Titus). Mr. and Mrs. Stewart attended the M. A. D. Masquerade in Detroit, November 13th, 1926. She seemed so well and enjoyed meeting her friends and many of her old pupils.

Less than two months, gone to where there is no returning. "Oh! Grave where is thy victory?" "Oh! Death where is thy sting?"

To Mr. Stewart and daughter, Jean, we extend our heartfelt sympathy.

I have been getting heaps of criticism lately, especially from D. A. D., and beg here to remind them it is up to them to help fill our column. I can't get news without being told, neither is it a pleasure to go where one is not very welcome, but for the column, we'll forgive and forget. Lets co-operate.

Mrs. Frank Halbrook spent the last week of the year visiting in New York City.

The Detroit Association of the Deaf held its first business meeting for 1927, on Friday, January 14th. The new officers were sworn in and assumed their duties.

President Allera hoped for much co-operation with the members to make the D. A. D. successful. Leo Goldstick, the popular, enthusiastic young oralist, who has helped so much, had to resign as secretary, to give more attention to his work. Chester Mylneark was appointed his successor. O. W. Reed A. Schneider, Max Crittenden and Fred Mayville, were appointed to assist Mr. Goupil on the House Committee.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Sadows, of Meldrum Avenue, are telling their friends of the engagement of their oldest son, Harold. He is to be married February eleventh.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Lobinger entertained her sister and husband and an uncle lately.

Congratulations are being received by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Chapman (Doria Scotte, of L'Anse, Mich.), on the birth of their third child.

Sam Schlabach exchanged his cozy home on Marlowe Ave, Strathmoor, for a larger lot and temporary house out beyond Redford, where he plans to build later.

Harry Friday, of Royal Oak, made the opposite kind of a deal, having exchanged his lot and garage house for an income bungalow in Ferndale.

Albert Siess spent ten days in Cincinnati, Ohio, during the holidays, also a few days in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Behrendt and daughter, Louise, and Miss M. Stark, were entertained at Frank Smith, of Ypsilanti, recently.

New business ventures among the deaf continually pops up.

Ralph Beaver, of 15823 Lawton Avenue, has a truck. His friends are kindly requested to remember it when in need of a drayman. Prompt service will be given.

Among the home owners should be listed Edward Luchow, one of the many Illinoisians here, who has a comfortable and compact four-room bungalow, with adjoining garage, all of which he built himself. Later on he plans to build a full-sized house on the front of the lot, and rent the bungalow. He is a skilled carpenter and does work along this line for others. He belongs to the large army of Ford workers.

The engagement of Anna Paetow to Harold Christensen is announced. MRS. WM. BEHRENDT.

Dr. Cadwallader Washburn was the house guest of this writer one day just before Christmas. Dr. Washburn is a celebrated etcher, whose work is known in Europe, Asia and America, where he displayed in the largest cities. At present he has his studio on Morro Bay, down the coast beyond San Luis Obispo.

While here, he related some of his adventures as a correspondent for the Chicago Daily Times during the Russian-Japanese war. He was near Port Arthur during the memorable siege, and it was he who announced to the waiting world the fall of the great fortress. He was enabled to make the "scoop" through his friendship with Admiral Togo, of the Japanese fleet. The story of this adventure is one of the high lights of the interesting life of a man who, through deaf, has risen to the dizzy heights of fame by sheer force of his natural endowments.

Dr. Washburn is contemplating a visit to Japan in the Spring—Cal. News.

Ohio news for publication may be sent to B. M. Edgar, School for the Deaf, Columbus, O.

Mr. Greener's retirement as the Ohio correspondent left a big hole in the JOURNAL, and the writer has been prevailed upon to fill the gap or, at least, try to do so.

We hope all having any news for this column will not be backward about sending, to the above address, for we can do no broadcasting unless we have the news.

Mr. Ralph H. Atwood, a former teacher here, is reported to be losing his sight. Mr. Atwood is now in his 90th year. He was educated at the Hartford School, and is perhaps, the only deaf person now living, who came in personal contact with Thomas Hopkins Gallaudet, Mr. Atwood took great pleasure in telling about the elder Gallaudet's visit to the Hartford School, and rewarding him with a pat on the head for doing good work at his state.

The Columbus Advance Society elected the following officers for 1927.

President, Mr. Harry Romoser; Vice-president, Mr. Herbert Volp; Secretary, Mr. Joseph Arnold; Treasurer, Mr. Albert H. Ohlemacher; Custodian, Mr. Jacob Showalter. Purchasing Committee, Messrs. Zelland Volp.

The society will have its annual social, February 19th.

The Columbus Ladies' Aid Society's officers for this year are: President, Mrs. Jos. Neutzing; Vice-President, Mrs. Walter Wark; Rec. Secretary, Mrs. Chester Huffman; Cor. Secretary, Mrs. R. P. Thomas; Treasurer, Miss Cloa Lamson; Custodians, Mrs. I. Crossen and Miss Zell.

The Ladies' Aid Society is now in its thirty-fourth year. The treasurer's report for 1926, showed that the treasury is in a healthful condition.

The O. S. S. D. basket ball team went over to Springfield, Ohio, Friday evening, to meet the local high school team there, and the Springfield paper had this to say about the game: "With all due respect to other players who have been on our floors this season, it is only fair to say that Captain Carmen, the elongated, white-haired center of the Mute team, is the sweetest player that has cavorted on our floor for many moons." Of course the deaf boys were victors to the score of 39 to 31.

The girls' basket ball team expect to go over to the Indiana School to meet their team and to fight to keep the trophy won last year.

It has been reported that another attempt may be made by the present legislature to ban deaf auto drivers in Ohio. We hope it is merely a rumor. A bill has been introduced, we believe, to compel every auto owner to take out a $10,000 liability insurance; and now they say the price of gasoline is to be increased. Verity the auto owners have their trouble as well as the poor pedestrians.

The Kentucky deaf want a Home for their aged and infirm and are making plans to start a drive for funds on April 11th, the 104th birthday anniversary of the Kentucky School. The late R. P. MacGregor being much interested in the movement was eager to be of service and had given the leaders in the project many helpful suggestions. Ohio wishes Kentucky much success and hope in a few years, they too, will have a Home.

Mr. Harry E. Romoser, the decorator and painter, left last week to visit his parents in San Benito, Texas. His wife and daughter accompanied him. As San Benito is on the Rio Grande River overlooking Mexico, Mr. Romoser's friends are hoping no stay Mexican bullets will come his way.

Mr. John Winemiller has taken the place of the late Mr. MacGregor as secretary for the Board of Managers for the Ohio Home.

Mr. Carl Ohlemacher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Ohlemacher, was recently ordained a deacon in the Wilson Avenue Reformed Church. He was spoken of as the youngest deacon in the city.

Word has been received of the death of Mr. Preston L. Stevenson, of Findlay, Ohio. He is survived by his widow, Ida Emery Stevenson, and one son. For more than forty years Mr. Stevenson had been employed in the recorder's office in Hancock Co. Others came and went but Mr. Stevenson was retained by both republican and democratic recorders. He was also well known in his younger days as a sleight-of-hand performer and took much delight in entertaining children, who watched him with eyes of wonder.

Announcement of the engagement of Mr. Ance Lippert, of Toronto, Ohio, to Miss Adeline Sattka, has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sattka.

Mrs. O. M. Pittenger of the Indiana School, who has been visiting schools in the east, made a short stop over at the Ohio School. Her stay, was much too short for her to visit all the schools but she got a bird's eye view of the place.

SADLY NEGLECTED

A welfare worker called in the office to report the case of two sisters, deaf-mutes living in Guernsey County. He said they were about forty years of age and had never been in school. They live all alone. Their house is on a hillside and their floor has the same slant as the hillside. This causes them to hold onto the wall as they move from place to place or hold onto each other.

They appear to make their own living, go to the store to buy and transact all of their little affairs in their own way.

Judging from his description they are naturally bright deaf women, but entirely without education. He was making further investigation with view of sending them to the Home for Aged and Infirm Deaf. There they would learn the sign language and would at least live on a welfare work.

There are yet some very backward spots in our great state. If the welfare department did no more than to hunt out such places put them in normal touch with the world through education it would be enough to justify its expense. This is what it is doing, for it was a welfare worker who found them. But, oh, what those two women have lost, and the pity of it.

Mrs. Rutherford, of Chicago, was called here by a telegram, and attended the funeral of her brother, Geo. Sears. She left for home last week after two weeks. She has our sympathy in her sad bereavement.

Mrs. Weifing, of Blackwell, Okla., who has been with "Auntie Buchanan" in Wichita, is recovering fast from a bad cold. Her husband is still working in smelter. There are two deaf-mutes working in the same shop in Blackwell, Okla.

Mrs. McPherson, noted evangelist of Los Angeles, came with her party here the 19th, and preached to big crowds in Wichita. There were many deaf-mutes, for whom Mr. Simpson interpreted in the sign language.

Joe Spisksz wears a big smile for the arrival of a baby at his home on the 8th inst.

There six deaf-mutes employed in the furniture factory here. They are becoming expert workers. All are married, except one.

Chas. L. Fooshee has been in the shoe and harness business thirty-two years, until he quit about twelve years ago. He learned the trade of paperhanger and papered the room of his sister and fourteen rooms for his parents. He has succeeded in getting a good business in Wichita. He has a stock of wall paper. He has references. He is a product of the Kansas School for the Deaf and was appointed as foreman of the shoe and harness department at the same school in 1902. After three years he resigned.

Portland, Oregon.

Mr. Arthur Rebitzke, of Hillsboro, Ore., and Miss Ethel Elroy, an employee at the Salem deaf school, were invited in marriage at the Lutheran Church, in Salem, on Sunday, December 26th, Rev. E. Eichmann officiating. The young couple are well known in Oregon. They will make their home in Salem, Ore.

The Lyceum meeting was held on Saturday night, January 22d. Regardless of the cold weather, a good number turned out to hear one of the best lectures on evolution. These lectures were of special interest to those who attended. Because of this great intellectual stimulus from the subject, matters given in a debate by a couple of good Portland speakers, Mr. B. L. Craven and Mr. Geo. Coats, it was a real treat to those who were there and a loss to those who feared Jack Frost would bite. Mr. and Mrs. M. Werner and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lynch came fifty miles in a bitter cold night to hear these debaters. When asked how they enjoy the trip, they only laughed, suppose if it was in the East twenty-five below, oh! my, and here it was twenty above zero. Mr. L. A. Divine, instructor at Vancouver deaf school, gave an interesting talk on Astronomy and all the beauties of the heavenly skies. He spoke mostly on the stars and the astrophotometer, used to locate the distance from earth to the stars. Mr. M. Werner, an instructor at the Salem deaf school, spoke on the laws. He at one time said he wondered how a policeman could carry one hundred or more laws in his head and arrest people as they break one or the other laws. But according to the many laws Mr. Werner himself knew, the writer thinks he would make a good policeman and lawyer himself, and arrest every wife who opens her husband's letters as in his speech he warned the wives or husband not to open their better half's letters. Mrs. A. L. Craven spoke of the good, the deaf received through Thomas H. Gallaudet and his son. At last, Mr. J. O. Reichle gave the crowd a real treat in a song in the sign language. It was a war song of the French army in France.

The next Lyceum meeting will be February 26th, subject will be the N. F. S. D., N. A. D. and O. A. D. It will be a great lecture. Miss Grace Matthews, of Myrtle Creek, Ore., a well-known Miss in Oregon, is now working for Superintendent and Mrs. Steed at Salem deaf school. The Lyceum Committee is soon to pick out a few and practice for a minstrel show, to be played Saturday night, April 23d. It will be a great play. All will be darkies. Look for further announcement. Miss Hilda Tillinghast, daughter of former Superintendent E. S. Tillinghast, of Salem School for Deaf, was a visitor at the Salem school, and a party was given by her many deaf friends in her honor. Miss Tillinghast is teaching at the deaf school at Sioux Falls, South Dakota, where her father is superintendent.

The S. F. L. Club will hold their next luncheon at the home of Mrs. C. H. Linde, on Wednesday, January 26th, hostesses Mrs. Linde, are Mrs. Greenwald, Mrs. Jorg and Mrs. Chas. Lawrence.

Mr. Dean Horn made a flying trip to Seattle, where his wife is at present staying. Mr. Horn is instructor in the linotype department at the Vancouver, Wash., deaf school. So it is understood, he will soon go housekeeping in Vancouver.

Mr. Ray Hummel, of Salem, was a lucky lad and Santa was real good, making it the happiest moment in young Ray's life, when his Dad presented him with a new Chevrolet coupe. Mr. Hummel is twenty-five years old.

Portland is experiencing the hardest winter seen here for many years. Snow, which may stay tea days or more, is still on the ground at the time of this

BROWNSVILLE SILENT ATHLETIC CLUB

On Saturday evening, January 29th, the Second Annual Basket Ball and Dance was tendered by the Brownsville Silent Athletic Club, at Hopkinson and Sutter Avenues, Brooklyn, N. Y. The attendance was good, with about two hundred present.

There were two exciting games for two loving cups, emblematic of the championship. The first game, the Margraf Boys challenged with the Houston Athletic Club. These teams were rivals, and found it hard to score the points. At last, the Margraf Boys defeated the Houston Athletic Club by a score of 25 to 13.

The line-up was:

Referee—N. Epstein, of Brownsville Favorites. Umpire—S. Friedman, of Hebrew Educational Society. Timekeeper—S. Feinstein. Scores—Pincus, B. S. A. C., and Sobel, Bronx Division, No. 92.

The second game, the Brownsville Silent Athletic Club (Champions for 1925-26) played with the Bronx Division, No. 92, N. F. S. D. In the first half the game was under the amateur rules. The Bronx Frats scored 14 points and the Brownsville Silents 11 points. In the second half the game was under the professional rules, and the Brownsville Silents began to show their fast passwork, and scored 23 points. Oppenheim was taken out for Bayarsky, on account of an injury, but the Brownsville Silents trounced the Bronx Frats by a score of 35 to 23. Rosensweet, Forman and Schurman starred for the Brownsville Silents, and Font and Coiro starred the Bronx Frats.

After the two games, the dancing to music was indulged in. Loving cups were awarded to the Margraf Boys and the Brownsville Silents for winning the games. The affair was dismissed at 12 P. M.

The Brownsville Silent Athletic Club announces that they will hold a "Cash Prize for Dance and Soft Ball Catch Contest" at the Hebrew Educational Society Ball Room (not at the Gymnasium Room), on Saturday evening, March 5th, 1927. The arrangement of that affair will be made by the seven members—Oppenheim, M. Forman, L. Rosensweet, W. Schurman, P. Connors, L. Bayarsky and Horowitz.

One of the big events of the mid-winter athletic and social season of the Metropolitan district will take place Saturday evening, February 19th, in the well-appointed and centrally located Seventh Regiment Armory. The Lexington Alumni have arranged two splendid basketball games, which will bring together the teams from the New York Institution, New Jersey School, St. Joseph's Institution and the Lexingtons. It will be the first time these four teams have been brought together the same evening. Handsome silver cups will be presented to each of the winning teams. Dancing between and after the games, with music by members of the famous 7th Regiment Band as an added attraction. The 7th Regiment Armory covers the entire block from 66th to 67th Sts., Park to Lexington Aves., but the entrance is on Park Ave., reached by either the I. R. T. (68th St. Station) or B. M. T. (60th St. and Lex. Ave. Station). Advance ticket sales indicate a record crowd will be present, but the great size of the Armory assures seats for all.

On Saturday evening, January 29th, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Goldstein celebrated their tenth wedding anniversary. The following gentlemen and ladies were present: Messrs. and Mesdames S. Lowenherz, J. Rathem, S. Paul, W. Krieger, J. Friedman, H. Blechner, M. Weiner, A. Zwicker, S. Krienik; Mrs. H. Schulman, Misses B. Abramowitz and Anne/Hamburger; Messrs. M. Schnapp, Halpert, Michaels and Lester Hyams.

After partaking of a fine repast, a handsome bronze parlor lamp was presented to them as a reminder of the event, being the gift of those present.

The Kanny, Kunning Klant of Kemp Have luck to beat the hand—
A horseshoe in each pocket
And a rabbit foot in hand!

In past years masquerade balls were sure to be well attended, but for some unaccountable reason bota masques given so far this year were fizzes. The latest was the masquerade given by the Silent A. C. under Joe Miller's management, for the benefit of the Home for Aged Deaf, January 22d. Barely a dozen persons masked, so money prizes were curtailed. First prize for women went to Mrs. A. Latremouille, of Berwyn, as "Harlequin," $4. Second to Miss Vera Riek as "Miss Liberty." The only male prize went to Mrs. C. Kemp's hearing son, Ellis, as a Spanish Toreador. At the same time, 16 tables of 500 contended in the parlor. The Kemps had a field day, for in addition to the masquerade prize young Ellis won, Charles Kemp took first prize at cards, and his wife third. Among the donors of these prizes were Messrs. Bob Blair, Liebenstein, Fred Migatz, Craig, Kondell, Frank, Barrow, Gus Hyman, Witte, Boltz, Bernard Jacobson, Banks and Meagher; also Misses Plonshinsky and Riek.

However, there is certain to be a huge crowd of maskers at the big annual masquerade ball of Division No. 1, February 19th. This is the red letter day of the winter season.

"This sudden apathy of Silent-dom for masques amazes me," says Joe Wondra, the dramatic coach. "Recently my wife and self attended a masquerade party in a private home—and we found every single one of the 88 guests were masked."

This issue reaches Chicago on February 5th, the day of the first big "amateur night" at the Silent A. C. This is under the personal management of Joe Wondra, and he has a nice card of amateurs, who can sing, act and dance. Cash prizes will be awarded the winners.

Following the amateur affair, a "kiddie party" will hold the boards—and those who recall Wondra's last party know the fun will be fast and furious. This ought to be a night worth seeing.

The most "tony" party of the season was that of the Bob Blairs, January 20th, in their new mansion—so huge, it resembled a hotel. It was the first time these oral leaders had entertained the combined system products, and set a high-water mark in the line. Various new games were given; such as "conundrums," "What state is head of the family?" "Pa," etc. Points were awarded on the 5-3-1 scale, and expensive presents went to the evening's high-winners. Art Roberts and Mrs. Gus Hyman took firsts; Wash Barrow and Mrs. Roberts seconds. The concluding refreshments were uniform with St. Valentine motif.

Mrs. Meagher tendered a luncheon on the 24th, to Miss Laura Sheridan, who has been connected with schools for the deaf—on and off—for forty years. Miss Sheridan, who still retains her zeal and mental keenness, was delighted to meet so many of her former pupils. She came from Greencastle, Ind., to visit her brother, who is connected with the Chicago Tribune. She and the late Dr. Gillett, of Jacksonville, were primarily responsible for the spread of the Methodist faith among the Illinois deaf.

The "Jap party and ball given by Chi-oral-106, on the 15th, was attended by some two hundred, despite the sub-zero weather. That same night, at the Silent A. C., the Andy Knauffs, of Aurora, managed a bunco and 500 party. Nine O. W. L. S. (Chicago Chapter of the Gallaudet College Sorority) braved the zero weather of the 15th to attend their quarterly luncheon at Marshall Field's. Mrs. Arthur L. Roberts will serve as the chapter "Supreme Whoo-hoo," for 1927, with Miss Goldie Newman as quill-pusher and kernel-custodian. The young husband of that pretty Mrs. Latremouille, who won first prize at the masquerade, is foreman of a gang of painters in the Insurance Exchange—quite an achievement for a deaf man.

Caption accompanying photo of a freak machine, in a recent daily paper: "New Marvel of Science—J. W. Legg and his phonoscope, which records vibrations of any description. Through it the deaf can hear. In wartime it can measure speed of projectiles." The deaf, and wartime; hum, now I wonder if Mister Legg is thinking of deaf conventions?

Mrs. Chloe E. Brothers Priestley died at Goshen, Ind., on the 8th. Rev. Hasenstab went to conduct funeral services in cooperation with a pastor there.

The local M. E. flock sent $160 to Mrs. Mills' school in Chefoo, China. Mesdames Kraft, Padden and Miller gave a party, on the 15th, in honor of Mrs. Mack—formerly Alice Hinch.

Pictorial Review recently ran a picture of Helen Menken, daughter of the Chicago deaf leader, who plays the lead in "The Captive" at the Empire Theatre, New York. Frederick Meincken's eldest daughter, Grace Menken (Mrs. Clark), will shortly open in a Chicago theatre in Golden's play, "Two Girls Wanted Help."

Considering the fact Lon Chaney and Sid Smith—movie stars—are also the children of deaf parents, it would seem our offspring are supremely qualified to enact difficult roles. And yet there are certain jassax hommes who question whether we deaf are of any use in the world!

Gwendolyn Caswell, the little beauty, who two years ago started that fake "airplane cures deafness" press propaganda, became Mrs. Walter Parmelee early in December (a hearing man). The airplane ride never helped her hearing any.

Miss Belda Erickson—who came from North Dakota three months ago—is confined to the house while recovering from the effects of being bumped by an auto. It was driving on the wrong side of the street—but as the owner is not insured, Miss Belda may be unable to recover damages.

Charles Kessler got back on the 21st, after five weeks in Florida. While in Miami, Kessler arranged for the repair of some of his houses there, damaged by the hurricane.

Mrs. David J. Padden, wife of the chairman of the Silver Jubilee Committee, is back, after two months in Minnesota, where her parents celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Abe Migatz, wife of the treasurer of No. 1, was operated on for appendicitis, on the 21st.

The Claude Russells are still under the Loodoo—they lost nearly everything in the fire which destroyed the building at Adams and Spaulding on the 15th. Pictures in the papers show the Russells in the group of survivors.

Mrs. Russell had no sooner reached her place of work that morning than she was told a phone call said her home was ablaze. Her husband and children were unharmed. Being turned out in below zero weather is only another of the long list of misfortunes which have befallen the Russells of late years.

After helping trim a Christmas tree at the Philadelphia home of his niece, Mrs. Harry Leiter's father sank into a quiet sleep from which he never awoke. He was dead when they tried to arouse him Christmas morning.

Miss Adele Williams is visiting in New York City.

Mrs. Anton Tanzar's hearing sister spent ten days with her, en route home to Minneapolis from a visit in New York.

Mrs. Wilbur Wells has come from Carrollton, Ill., to join her husband here. They were formerly Detroiters.

Mrs. Laura Hoopes and her daughter, Miss Isabel Gill, both of Baltimore, are visiting Mrs. G. F. Flick. They came here to pay their annual winter visit to Mrs. Hoopes's married daughter.

Scalgie and Anselmi, now serving sentences of 14 years for killing patrolman Harold Olson—son of deaf parents—in the most spectacular gang murder of Chicago's history, have been granted a new trial.

Mrs. Isadore Newman gave a housewarming party for Mrs. Frankfort.

Mrs. Arthur Roberts spent a day at the handsome Wilmette home of Mrs. Luther Woods.

Mrs. Bernard Jacobson has recovered, after a week's confinement with a bad cold.

Mrs. F. Meincken entertained friends with a card party.

Waite Vaughan is spending a month in Florida.

Mrs. Charles Chalfant was summoned to the bedside of her mother in Lincoln, Neb.

Mrs. Constance (Hasenstab) Elmes gave birth to a daughter on the 12th.

Francis P. Gibson attended the Silver Jubilee banquet of Detroit Division No. 2, on the 22d. No. 1 sent a $15 basket of flowers to the Detroit pioneers.

Earl Mather—Gallaudet, ex-'08—came from Indianapolis to visit the Morton Henrys.

Three deaf men have been working on the Bankers' Directory at Rand McNallys—Jack Seipp, Wilbur Wells and John Miller.

David Marvel, the deaf dancer, appeared at the large local houses lately.

W. S. Camp (hearing), the venerable veteran editor of the State school, who was chiefly instrumental in bringing about the removal of Col. Smith as head of the school, is said to be about to leave, to make his permanent home in California.

Dates ahead, February 5—Sac "Kiddie party" and amateur vaudeville night (changed back from the 12th). 12—Pas bunco and 500. 19—No. 1's great annual masquerade at Sac (the biggest indoor feature of the winter.)

EUROPEAN TOUR FOR THE DEAF

Miss Grace Coleman, of Gallaudet College, who spent last summer in Europe, is organizing a European tour for a party of deaf people for the summer 1927. The tour will be arranged by a reliable company and she will act as interpreter and guide. For further particulars communicate with her at Kendall Green, Washington, D. C.

Gallaudet College

Friday night, January 28th, the Gallaudet College Literary Society held its second literary meeting of the term, with President Jacobson in the chair. Nicholas Braunagel, '27, gave an excellent reading, "The Attack on the Mill," which held the undivided attention of his audience. As of old, a debate followed upon the heels of the reading. The resolution, "That the United States' intervention in the Nicaraguan situation is justified," was ably supported by Anthony Hajna, '30, and Eimer Rosenkjar, P. C., who, by the way, won the judges' decision over the negative side. William Thompson, '30, and Schlosser, P. C. "Reg'lar Fellers," a dialogue that was a mixture of a comedy, a play, and a conversation, was acted out by Glen Gallagher, '29, and David Mudgett, '29, to the great amusement of the spectators. Then came the hit of the evening. Charles McBride, '30, attired in a weird combination of an old coat, trimmed with yellow and blue tissue paper, riding breeches that were notably new, a glistening pair of lumberjack boots, a drab felt hat ornamented by a feather that was in all likelihood stolen from a barnyard fowl's plumage, gave a new rendition of "Yankee Doodle," which was accompanied by reverberating booms from a drum concealed behind the scenery. This clever Irishman grafted the Virginia Reel upon the words of the song, thus injecting a powerful charge of local color into his recital. Mrs. Coleman, an expert in all matters pertaining to "Yankee Doodle," was pleased beyond words, which is saying a good deal, as she has seen innumerable renditions of this song. Mr. Harley D. Drake, '04, launched his critical boat with success as he criticized almost every feature on the program without hurting the feelings of the speakers, an achievement in itself.

The drum accompaniment of Charles McBride's superb rendition was flawless with the exception of one and only one ill-timed beat. Upon inquiry, it was found that the drummer, Theodore Brickley, '30, in his zeal, got his drumstick tangled up in one of the guy-ropes as he drew it back a little farther than usual in order to produce an extra-loud thunder-clap. In this event, this false step is quite pardonable.

By a close margin of three votes, it was passed in the Young Men's Refectory to change the Interclass Mollycoddle Basketball League to a Kendall Green league, so as to embrace the Kendall School quintet in the activities. It may also be pointed out that this change makes it possible for the Faculty to take a hand in this free-for-all fight, should they wish to do so.

We are not to be blamed if we should decide to change the gender of weather from neuter to that of feminine. A few nights ago we had to sleep under double bed covering; one day it snowed, actually snowed. But now, as the correspondent opens his window, only gentle, warm breezes welcome his somewhat timid venture out into the open, thus painfully reminding him of the balmy climate of the Gulf coast. One day the sun may cook the payment of Pennsylvania Avenue, but we know too much of the climate of Washington, D. C., to hail it as a sign of approaching Spring.

Professor Irving Fufeld gave a very good talk in the Chapel, Sunday, the title of which was "Drawbacks," in which he pointed out that drawbacks could easily be classified into two groups, to wit: those which conquer people, and those which people conquer. He cited numerous examples of each group, throwing various drawbacks into clear relief, for our benefit.

Upon the suggestion of Miss Grace Coleman, all the students interested in speech-reading met and launched once more a Speech-Reading Club, which, for some reason or other, was not in existence in the first term. This year's officers are Miss Della Kittleson, President; Norman Scarvie, Vice-President; and Miss Ruth Fish, Secretary. The officers form the program committee, and we are assured of interesting programs in the future. Miss Grace Coleman is the sponsor of this club.

Buff and Blue Co-eds braten by Marjorie Webster. Rallying too late in the last period, the Gallaudet sextette bowed its head for the first time this season, the victorious team being the undefeated team of the Marjorie Webster school. Displaying a fine passing game and by consistent scoring, the visitors forged steadily into the lead, the final score standing at 25 to 13. Kannappell, the backbone as well as the starring forward of the Buff and Blue co-eds, was forced out in the first half because of three personal fouls she made. The Gallaudet sextette collapsed like a house of cards when this peppy forward was forced off the floor.

Still displaying uncanny accuracy in their passing and fielding, the Marjorie Webster girls steadily rolled up a lead equal to that of Gallaudet College's score.

The line-up was as follows:

Marjorie Webster (26)	Gallaudet (13)
A. Deekins	L. F.
K. Wilson	R. F.
V. Peasley	C.
E. Jones	S. C.
C. Mason	L. G.
H. Smith	R. G.
	F. Newton

Summary—Field goals—Deekins (10), Wilson, Kannappell (2), M. DuBose, L. DuBose (2). Free throws—Deekins (3), Wilson, Kannappell (2), L. DuBose. Substitutions—H. Vernier for Jones, J. Kelly for Kannappell. Referee—Miss Nevitt. Umpire—Miss Holzbauer.

GALLAUDET BOWS TO OLD LINERS, 39-26.

In spite of the fact that we received a very severe setback in our tilt with Blue Ridge the previous Saturday, the newspapers evidently still think a lot of us, as they prophesied a beforehand fierce set-to when the Buff and Blue cagemen invaded Ritchie Gymnasium at College Park, Saturday night, January 29th.

The forecast of the canny sports writers was more or less justified by the fine showing the Kendall men made on the Old Liners' floor. Throughout the first half, the lead see-sawed between the two evenly matched teams. The first half ended with the score at 24-20 in the favor of the Marylanders.

Whenever Dyer or Cosgrove found themselves in possession of the ball, they were pretty sure to sink baskets. In vain husky guards strove to check their scoring spree. They would somehow send the ball through the nets. Stevens, Adams and Faber scored consistently for Maryland, thus offsetting the phenomenal sharpshooting of Dyer and Cosgrove.

The whirlwind pace Dyer and Cosgrove set tired not only their opponents but themselves. The Marylanders notably kept themselves in reserve throughout the first half, although they were plainly alarmed by the tornado playing of our forwards. In the second half Dyer and Cosgrove were just "all in," and it was then that the Old Liners let themselves out and effectively skyrocketed their tallies to 31.

After the first fifteen minutes of the game, something went amiss with the shooting of Gallaudet's star forwards. They could not find the basket, much less sinking the ball through them. Meanwhile, the Old Liners continued their machine-like precision in both passing and shooting. They had, as the Marines say, "the situation well in hand," throughout the second frame.

The Kendall Greeners were held scoreless all through the second half until the last minute, when a sudden scoring flurry was kicked up by Cosgrove's two field-goals and one by Capt. Miller. But the Marylanders did not have any occasion to worry as they had rolled up a comfortable margin.

The line-up and summary follows:

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Frank Ross Gray, who departed this mortal life on Sunday afternoon, February 10th, nineteen hundred and twenty-four, at General Hospital, Pittsburgh, Pa. I dedicate this poem.

GOOD BYE, DEAR PAL.

Good-bye dear Pal, I'll miss you so. You were the dearest Pal I ever had, You cheered my life, when I was sad, You sympathized with, and comforted me, When things weren't just as they should, Your cheery smile, your love divine, Filled this poor aching heart of mine,

Dear Pal O' Mine, I'll miss you so, More than you could ever dream or know We'll dwell with our kind, loving Father above, Your spirit, dear Pal, I can feel it near— My lonely pathway trying to cheer; It will guide my steps through the vale of years, And at life's end, I shall know no fears,

Dear Pal, it will be only a little while, I'll meet again on the sunny Isle. Good-bye, dear pal, you are just asleep, I shall try to be brave, and not to weep, For your kind loving spirit will my life guide and keep.

Our dear loving Father, dear Pal, knew just what was best, He took you home to the mansions above; Where there is nothing but peace and love;

Where from all of the toils and cares of life you can rest. Good-bye, dear Pal, it will be only a little while, Till we meet again on that beautiful Isle.

YOUR PAL.

Rochester, N. Y.

Lawrence Samuelson and his two months' bride, Mrs. Samuelson, nee Bertha Condy, of Buffalo, N. Y., are shortly to be settled in their new apartment on Averill Street, Rochester. They are very anxious to start housekeeping, so their numerous friends are wishing them heaps of happiness in their new surroundings.

Misses Lotta Shattuck, Rosella Grief and Mrs. Smith, and Messrs. A. Slater, Williams, Heffernan, L. Samuelson and Barnett, were the only party from Rochester attending a gay New Year party at the Snyders' home in Lockport. They were greeted by a large circle of their Buffalo friends, as well as Rev. H. C. Merrill, of Syracuse, and Edward Harmon, of Jamestown, who came down to the said party. Almost the same crowd attended another party, arranged by the deaf girls of Y. W. C. A., at one of the small exclusive rooms at Hotel Statler, Buffalo, the next evening. They all reported a very good time at both parties.

On New Year eve, Mr. and Mrs. Toland, with the help of Mr. W. Collins, entertained a large party to a pig roast at their home. Games and dancing took place in their roomy attic till midnight when all merry makers were filled up with a delicious pig-roast dinner. In the wee small hours they broke up the party and left for their homes, tired and sleepy, but the memory of a wonderful time they had.

With regret, friends of Mrs. Towler heard she had a bad fall shortly after New Year, Day. She was making a call with her baby at her neighbor's house in order to leave her baby for a few hours to go shopping. She missed some step at the neighbor's house and fell down stairs, holding her few months' old baby so tightly that one of its legs was broken. Mrs. Towler was herself badly bruised, but she was happy she had not dropped her baby in the fall. So far, her friends are glad to know the baby is getting along nicely now and that it is healing up well.

Miss Viletta Silco had two surprises at different times in celebration of her birthday, for which she was presented with a beautiful wrought iron bridge lamp and walnut tea wagon by her many friends last week.

Messrs. Yate Lansing and Le Grand Klock have taken possession of their exclusive apartment at Alexander Court, this city, where they will move on February 1st from their old on Chestnut Street.

Saturday evening, January 15th, Highland Hall on Gregory Street, was a gay scene of many beautifully costumed paraders at their annual masquerade party, staged by the Rochester Division No. 52, under the direction of the chairman, Mr. W. Collins. Ninety friends from far and near came to help make the party a well remembered one. Many hand-some prizes were given out to various winners for best costumes.

Mrs. F. Moore, of Brockport, returned to her home from a long visit and vacation in and around the Adirondacks last Saturday. Before coming back, she spent two or three glorious weeks making the rounds in New York City, Newark, Atlantic City and Philadelphia.

Those of Rochester having seen and remembered Edward Kaercher, of Philadelphia, Pa., when he paid a visit with his friend, the scribe, last September, are well pleased to learn of his good work and success at the Lutheran Seminary, Philadelphia, and at his home church, where he has been conducting his lay-reader services every other week.

Those who remember Joe Allen, of Buffalo, were surprised and are now congratulating him for his recent marriage to his charming betrothed of Lorain, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Allen are now making Sandusky, Ohio, their home.

W. Parkinson, of Fairport, N. Y., was married to his pretty spouse of Buffalo, quite a while ago and they are now settled in their new home in Fairport.

Mr. L. L. Bush has announced his engagement to Miss Knorr, of Erie, Pa., and their wedding bells will shortly ring.

Ralph Gerow, accompanied by his friend, the scribe, spent one of the week-ends visiting in one of the biggest cities of the continent, Montreal, Canada, a couple of months ago, and it was his first trip afar out of Rochester. Never in his life had he ever experienced such a charm of beauty as the Adirondacks, as the train carried him through there.

Arnold Slater had a happy visit from his deaf brother, Harry Slater and his wife, of Buffalo, some time last month. They attended one of the most successful bazaars the Rochester Division ever had at the Highland Hall. Out of that bazaar, the Division made a big profit of over a hundred and twenty-five dollars.
